

About Priya

Success has always been Priya's dream right from her childhood days. As a middle child in a family of six, Priya learned of responsibility and independence, passionately pursuing her education while learning and discovering new things as she grew up. She learned various forms of art and was always eager to tackle challenges.

It was after graduating high school and taking up Information Technology in further studies that Priya realized that the field was to be her future. She persevered and finished, meeting her husband Jaish and had their lovely children Jay and Jayati soon after. Her passion for work never wavered, taking on one job after another, learning as she works, and eventually she landed a position at HCL Technologies, which gave her the opportunity to move to Australia. Her family moved in with her about two years afterward.

Her dreams of success led her to create her own company, Tech Consultants Australia Pty. Ltd, and eventually co-founded Corporality Global and Incontro Group. Priya gradually laid down her building blocks to success, where she is now and still building up.

She is currently a Speaker, Trainer, and Facilitator in her professional work, helping entrepreneurs, and brands or organisations big and small grapple through the jungle of digital marketing. Priya is also an Author and Mentor for management and salesforce executives and business leaders, sharing her insights from decades of experience and first-hand entrepreneurial wisdom with a culturally conditioned approach..

She has found happiness in achieving one step of her dream, and in helping others by inspiring and empowering them, reaching new heights for herself, too.

Sample Introduction

Now that we are all gathered here let me greet all of you a pleasant [morning/afternoon/evening],

It is an honor to be here and present to you [today/tonight] our next speaker.

She's a rising star in Sydney as a contemporary Marketing Strategist, who has propelled several businesses from plainness into success stories. She was born a natural leader with a thirst for success that took her from her hometown in faraway India to Australia.

A success story in herself, she believed in the power of aligning oneself to the right mindset first in order to grow in any aspect of life, leading to 25 years of goal-driven service in the Marketing and Technology industries.

She's currently the Co-Founder and COO of Corporality Global, an innovative Australian firm dedicated to bringing out the best in companies through a Culturally Conditioned approach, delivering the best tailor-fit strategies and solutions to the table. She's also an admired Speaker hailing from Sydney, speaking to audiences from companies big and small, and an active Marketing blogger teaching everything from fundamentals to groundbreaking concepts for her beloved audiences - us - with a flair for storytelling and a truly inspiring presence. More than that, she has also authored several e-books on various business topics.

A certified presenter and with many notable skills to her name, our guest is also a lover of the arts as much as she loves business disciplines. She is with us [today/tonight] to inspire and guide us about [topic for discussion].

So let us welcome and celebrate the newest Marketing icon, Speaker, Author, Mentor, Tech Expert, Creative Thinker, and Thought Leader, the lovely Priya Mishra!
